AN OLD MAID'S PRAYER.

An old maid knelt beneath a maple tree
With feelings wonderful queer;
She prayed both long and fervently,
"Kind, Lord, consent my voice to hear;
Thou knowest my wish before my tongue
Can name it, but it doth belong
To me to ask if I'd receive.
So thou hast taught, and I believe;
Thou knowest it is not wealth or power
My heart desireth every hour,
But 'tis a husband, Lord, I want!
Wilt thou the gift in kindness grant?
O, give me one that's kind and clever,
And thine shall be the praise forever!
A hoot owl sat in the maple tree;
A jovial, happy owl was he!
He had been hid in th leaves all day,
Dozing and sleeping his time away;
But at the sound of the old maid's prayer
The bird awoke with a sudden stare,
Silent he sat till the prayer was through,
Then suddenly cried, "Who! who!
Who!"
Down went the old maid on her face!
"And dost thou show such amazing grace
As to grant thy servant thy voice to hear,
Which has not before greeted mortal ear
Since Sinai shook to its very base
At its terrible tones? O, wondrous grace!"
Thus to herself did the old maid speak,
So badly scared she was faint and weak,
And lay half-senseless upon the ground,
Till roused again by a terrible sound;
For again, from the top of the tree
The loud "Who! who!" of the owl
Then she answered, "Dear me, I hardly Know who!"
Most anybody, Lord, will do!"

YANKEE RIVAL
OUTWITS DUKE

WHILE DUKE OF ABUZZI IS FIGHTING TURKS, WILLIAM F.
HITT KEEPS MISS ELKINS TOO
BUSY TO WATCH HIS CAREER.

Special to The Journal
New York, Oct. 16.—While the Duke of the Abruzzi is off fighting the Turks and trying to make Tripoli a chateau of Italy, William F. Hitt, his Yankee rival, appears to have gotten the inside track on him. The affections of Miss Katharine Elkins, the pretty daughter of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins, Hitt returned from England with Miss Elkins and her mother, the other day and according to his fellow passengers never left the young woman out of his sight. Enough the wireless kept the ship's passengers informed of the hero's deeds of the Duke, the wily Billy is accused of keeping Miss Elkins so busy that she never had a chance to look at the reports. Somehow or other their fellow passengers figured that was the news might serve to revive the interest of the young woman in the dashing young nobleman who was reported to have asked her to be his bride a little more than a year ago.

The attention showered upon her by Hitt gave many of the passengers the impression that the couple were engaged. Reporters who sought out the young man when the ship arrived here, to put the direct question to him, found that he had eluded them. Miss Elkins declined to affirm or deny the report and the members of her family only smiled. However, there is good ground for believing that Hitt, who has been sorely smitten with the charms of Miss Elkins for more than a year has won out in his suit and that a formal announcement of their engagement will be forthcoming shortly.

CLERKS ARE BLACKLISTED

SO SAYS U. S. DISTRICT ATTOR-NEY WISE, SPEAKING OF THOSE WHO TESTIFIED AGAINST CHAS.
W. MORSE.

Special to The Journal
New York, Oct. 16.—The statement of United States Attorney Wise that all the clerks and officers of the defunct Bank of North America, who testified against Charles F. Morse, former "Ice King" and principal owner of the institution, now in the federal jail at Atlanta, have been black-listed by the bankers of New York has caused a big stir in financial circles here. Of the seven employees of the bank who assisted the government in prosecuting Morse, according to Mr. Wise and the records substantiate him—not one has since been able to secure employment in any bank in the city. One died from a broken heart when he realized that his life's training as a banker, after a quarter of a century of experience, was no longer of any avail to him. Most of the bankers of the city deny the existence of a blacklist and are anxious to punish those who helped the government fix responsibility on Morse for his manipulation of the funds of the Bank of North America, but the men themselves say that they have walked their feet off visiting the various institutions in search of work, without avail. What hurt the bankers more than the charge that there was a disposition among them to discourage bank clerks and subordinates from telling the truth to the government in

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."

Mrs. HANNAH SMITH, Pound, Wis.
The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it is free and always helpful.

Whatever Your Prejudice
Give Children Clean Milk

Dear Madam:

Perhaps you are still using raw, germ-laden milk, bought from the milkman daily. There are millions of others like you. It is hard to change customs a thousand years old.

But you know that danger always lurks in raw milk. There are millions of germs in each spoonful. You know there are many tubercular cows. And you know, or should know, that most infant mortality is caused by the germs in milk.

You know that pure milk is our greatest food problem. That millions are coming to pasteurized milk. Within a few years, beyond any question, raw milk will be as rare a food as raw meat is today. And for the same reason—the danger of germ infection.

In the meantime we urge—and physicians urge—that you give children a germless milk.

Done Simply by Heat

This is how milk is made utterly sterile at all the Van Camp dairies.

In the first place the dairies are sanitary. The cows are inspected. Cleanliness is carried to extremes.

The milk is all tested. Then, while fresh from the cows, it is put in a copper vacuum. There, without scalding the milk, we evaporate two-thirds of the water.

Then the milk is sealed up in cans. Then each can is pasteurized by heat. The milk then is utterly sterile—absolutely free from germs.

Van Camp's Milk
Evaporated—Sterilized—Unsweetened

Nothing whatever is added—no sugar, no preservative. Nothing but water is taken out. When you replace the water, the milk is the same as it came from the cows, save for the sterilization.

America's Finest Milk

We have dairies in seven states, each in the heart of a great dairying section. They are supplied with high-bred Holstein cows.

To bring this milk to you in perfect condition we employ famous Dutch and Swiss experts. We have spent $100,000 in the past seven years to perfect our dairy processes.

The result is the finest milk produced in America—equal to the milks of Switzerland. Please note that. Whatever your prejudice against "canned milk," you will never in the world taste better milk than Van Camp's.

Like Using Cream

The milk comes to you as thick as thick cream. For coffee and cereals most people dilute it. It is 28 per cent solids, 8 per cent butter fat.

In coffee it tastes like the richest cream. On cereals it tastes like sterilized cream. In cooking it gives you a richness and flavor never obtained from raw milk.

Not because of anything added. This is simply the whole rich milk. That flavor is only the natural taste of whole milk.

Milkman's milk separates, so you rarely get the whole milk. Butter fat rises and solids fall. When that milk gets to the cooking it is rarely more than a half-milk. That's all the difference. But just note from one milk dish what a difference that makes.

A Cow in the Pantry

You can buy, if you wish, a month's supply at a time. Have rich milk and cream always on hand—all that you want with none ever left over. For the opened can keeps until you use it up.

Imagine what it means to have milk and cream for a month, all stored on the pantry shelf. Think what you are losing in convenience alone by buying from hand to mouth.

Saves About Half

Now comes the strangest fact. This ideal milk, whole, rich and sterile, costs less than milk-warehouse milk. This Holstein milk, from model dairies, less than milk from mongrel cows.

We save you the cost of the milkman's daily delivery. That costs more than the shelf. And we save you all the waste. In the average home the use of Van Camp's cuts milk bills right in two.

We are milking 30,000 cows per day to supply the demand for this milk. Won't you learn why so many use it?

The 16-oz. can—a full pint of Van Camp's—costs 10 cents. The 6-oz. can costs 5 cents. That's with two-thirds the water evaporated. Your grocer gets it from our nearest dairy.

the case of a woman who worries. Any physician can tell you how thin worry will make anybody. It is the wearing, tearing mental activity that does it. I'm not advising woman to worry. To begin with, you can't tell a person to worry or not to worry, anyway. It's a waste of breath. They either do or they don't. But I am telling you that the type of woman who does worry is never fat. That thought came to me last winter. I really believe that fat slowly encroaches on the brain; atrophies it in a measure. Really the stouter a woman becomes the more slowly she thinks. Consequently there is just one thing to do and that is to make a determined effort to extricate one self at once. After you have gained the first twenty or twenty-five pounds too much you will never have the courage to put up a really good fight to lose it."
